The Benefits...

- Provision of the IFE's affiliate organisation logo which can be used on stationery, signage, corporate email signature etc*
- Affiliate Membership Certificate for display
- Free subscription and delivery of the Fire Risk Management Journal; archived editions are also available to view online.
- Opportunity to get involved via an excellent network of UK and international branches offering regular CPD events.
- 10% discount on all IFE publications. Publications leaflet available on request.
- Receipt of regular e-newsletters and information on IFE events to one central email address
- Partnership with the International Organisation and Awarding Body for Fire Professionals
- Unique access to the member's only area of www.ife.org.uk and access to the online forum.

Who is it for?

The title of Affiliate is available for individual fire engineers or organisations with an interest in fire engineering, who wish to take part in the IFE's activities but have not, at this stage, met the requirements of a membership grade. Affiliate members are entitled to such rights and privileges as non-corporate members. Affiliate members may make reference to their affiliation to the IFE.

What does it cost?

There are 2 types of application – Affiliate (individual) and Affiliate (organisation) and the current annual subscription is payable as follows:

Affiliate Organisation	£401
Affiliate Individual	£71 – *note individual affiliate members do not receive the logo

The subscription runs from January to December.
