A Guide to Fire Investigation (IFE02) – available now

The purpose of this guide is to provide a concise volume for the fire investigator which addresses some of the principle facets of the investigative process.

It will attempt to provide a simple explanation of some of the science necessary to interpreting the evidence of fire behaviour and movement.

This book is not meant to be an alternative to Kirk's Fire Investigation or to Principles of Fire Investigation, but to fill a gap that exists for a quick reference in the field which can then be supported or expanded if need be by reference to one of the many far more scientific books available.

Introductory price: £35.00 + P&P

Level 4 Certificate – Self Study Guide Paper 1 Fire Engineering Science (IFE81)

This self study guide is intended to enable candidates to prepare for the Level 4 Certificate Fire Engineering Science examination, which is a mandatory unit within the IFE qualification at Level 4.

The guide consists of six modules that reflect the L4C1 Fire Engineering syllabus, which can be downloaded from www.ife.org.uk. Within the modules are units, each of which contains a narrative information section, as well as a series of questions covering the topic under consideration and relevant worked examples.

The guide aims to complement rather than replace the time-honoured method of preparing for exams by studying in-depth from a wide range of source materials.

IFE recognises the work of Stevenson College Edinburgh in drawing up the guide originally and for generously consenting to the publication of this revised version for the benefit of the Institution's exam candidates.
